Who are we?

The Institute of Development Management (IDM) was established in 1974 as a regional organisation in the countries namely Botswana, Lesotho and Eswatini (BLE) to help meet the management needs of the region through management development activities including Education, Training, Research, Consultancy, and the establishment of a Management Resource Centre.

At the time, there was a serious shortage of managers in the young and developing economies of the three countries and IDM was mandated to train them to lead the management of their development. Now with over 49 years of doing this, IDM has grown from those early days, to what it is today, and continues to shape the futures of its alumni.
